CHAPLAIN

The "Elmhurst spirit" reflects the Christian influence on life, and you as our new chaplain are a personification of Christian living in the complex community. From your days at Drury College and Eden Theological Seminary you brought to Elmhurst College a fresh and vital philosophy. Your assistance and guidance have been appreciated by all: for being class sponsor, serving on student-faculty committees, fulfilling your teaching responsibilities, planning weekly chapel services, and providing individual counseling service; we dedicate this 1960 Elms to you.

DEDICATION

REV. J. W. FIEGENBAUM

I NTRODUCTION

The years that you have spent at Elmhurst College will always stay alive in your memories; here you are challenged, you grow and then you leave. Your memories include classes, cramming for tests, services in the chapel, sports activities, music tours, dances, and committee meetings; the 1960 Elms has tried to capture your student life. On these pages are the activities you and your classmates planned and participated in for this last year.

In any venture there must be organization, and so it is in the "venture of education." The element of unity and co-operation which lies at the head of this "organization" we designate as the administration.

We speak of the "Elmhurst spirit." This "spirit" is a devotion, an enthusiasm, and a love for this small college, which is educative, progressive, and Christian, but also has failings in these respects—as all institutions do. We must represent this spirit, which is so fundamental to the administration. Without this "spirit" — Elmhurst College cannot exist.

A college must have outreach and this is the responsibility of Admissions and Public Relations. Prospective students, friends of the college, and alumni are all nurtured in the "Elmhurst spirit" through this area of publicity. Few of these activities or the numerous administrative activities could be fulfilled without the capable assistance of the office staff.

Books, magazines, and newspapers open an endless horizon for the questioning student. An immense amount of knowledge lies before us in our library. The searching quality of the good student and the capable assistance of the library staff makes this knowledge useful.

The endless activity of college life often overtakes the student and necessitates a visit to the infirmary. There is always a

Elmhurst College provides an opportunity for each member of the student body to be known by the faculty personally and to receive the concerned assistance of the faculty members. The faculty, through their diverse interests, are a fount of information for the inquiring student in academic and social situations. The faculty members believe in the worth of the small Christian college. Through the Christian heritage of so many of the faculty members, the student body is able to become more fully enriched and to attain the "higher goals in life" along with their college education. The faculty member's primary responsibility is to fulfill his job as an educator to the best of his ability. Aside from this, professors spend numerous hours supporting school functions, counseling students, and sponsoring campus organizations. These hours are vitally important ones in the life of a college, which we could not do without, but which we often forget. The faculty pursue their teaching responsibilities not only in the classroom but also in all other aspects of campus life; they "teach by living."

Freshmen

Terrifying, Terrific, and Troublesome—these three words best describe the emotions and feelings many of the freshmen experienced during their first year at E. C.

Arriving on campus before the upperclassmen, they were given a few days to become oriented to the college way of life; for many this was the first big step toward adulthood. Equipped with their beanies and E books, they spent their days taking tests and their evenings becoming acquainted with their new friends and classmates. The dorm students spent their spare moments discovering the intricacies of dorm life; this was the time to find out any and all possible information about roommates and people living next door. The commuters also spent those first days in the dorms in an attempt to help unify the class.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

Dianne Mulholland, Treasurer, Lenore Ahrens; Secretary, David Sorenson; Vice-President, David Groenmann; President.

The day that most freshmen feared suddenly arrived with the return of the upperclassmen. They had been forewarned that life would become more difficult with the advent of the upperclassmen — especially the sophomores. Now the freshmen earnestly began to feel that they were a part of the college family as the sophomores carried out the initiation program. The initiation program was established and supervised by the Student Union to orient and integrate the freshman class to Elmhurst College. The freshmen will long remember competing in the football game and pajama races against the sophomores; they also had the privilege of serving and entertaining the Sophomore Class at the victory reception in Commons. The freshmen sponsored a semi-formal dance, "Snowflake Silhouette," during the fall semester.

Joanne Bucher. Secretary, Paul Westernmeyer; President, Wayne Hoffman; Treasurer, David Weistart; Vice-President.

This year, as in previous years, the Sophomore Class was responsible for seeing that the Freshman wore their beanies and carried their E-Books. It was not unusual to see Sophomores sending Freshmen back to their rooms for their beanies, E-Books, or both.

The Sophomore Class was also in charge of Frosh Workday and contests between the Sophomore and Freshman Classes.

Sophomores

Contests this year included a Football Game and a Pajama Race. It had been decided that the class with the lowest total score would serve the other class at a Freshman-Sophomore Victory Reception in October in Commons. The Freshmen served the Sophomores and provided entertainment.

The Sophomore Class sponsored and planned a semi-formal dance, Gypsy Caravan, on November 21. The gym was decorated to create a gypsy atmosphere, and the entertainment centered around the gypsy theme.

The officers of the Sophomore Class are: Paul Westermeyer, president; David Weistart, vice-president; Joanne Bucher, secretary; Wayne Hoffman, treasurer; and Professor J. W. Fiegenbaum, adviser.

Each dorm has a Dorm Council whose primary objective is to make sure that the rules of the dorm are observed and that order is maintained. Dorm Council meetings are held whenever necessary. Dorm councilors are elected by the students of each individual dorm; the students elect a fellow student to represent their floor, and this person maintains order on that floor. The head resident works with the councilors to insure that rules and order are kept. Any new rules and/or decisions of the Dorm Council are announced at Dorm Meetings. The Council serves for one year.

Dorm Life

For many dormitory life is something new; for others it is an old experience. Everyone who lives in a dormitory has to become accustomed to doing more things for themselves. For many dorm life is the first contact with community living; others return to renew and to strengthen friendships with roommates and classmates. Each person has the experience of helping to decorate and arrange their room. Room decoration and arrangements reveal the personalities of the occupants.

Each individual has the responsibility of observing the dorm rules, and of contributing his part to make dorm life a success. Dorm life also includes participating in and attending the dorm devotions which are held regularly in each dorm. Dorm life is a wonderful experience, with numerous experiences and memories. Many will never forget the friendships that started there.

Homecoming

"The World's Fair" was the theme of Homecoming 1959. The campus buildings were decorated in the motif of a foreign country; using typical scenes or symbols of the particular country. Saturday morning the decorations were judged by a group of faculty members and townspeople; the best depiction of the theme was "Hole in the Dike" representing the Netherlands, which received the placque for the best decoration.

For many of the returning alumni, it was their first view of our newly completed Hammerschmidt Memorial Chapel. Tours were available to explain the multifacilities of the chapel. On Friday evening the pageant "Sophistication is Your Guide to Better Living" was presented in the new chapel; the pageant portrayed the pleasure of learning to appreciate life as it is lived. Comprising part of the Friday events were interviews with alumni and visitors, including past president, Dr. Timothy Lehmann. The pulchritude of the evening was provided by the Homecoming queen, Joan Duvall and her court. Coach Stone, the new football coach, was introduced with the 1959 Blue Jays football team.

The activities for Saturday began with the traditional football game of Alumni vs. students in the morning. In the afternoon, the Homecoming game victory went to the Titans of Illinois Wesleyan; the day was climaxed by the Homecoming Dance "Faraway Places."

Sunday the alumni left for home carrying with them delightful memories of the week-end.

Football

The big news in Elmhurst football this season was the administration's decision to drop out of the C. C. I. and thus give the football team, as well as all the other athletic teams, the opportunity to compete against schools which have a similar philosophy towards sports. The schedule for next year includes games with six schools, all of whom shun subsidization. The opponents for next year include: Earlham

College of Richmond, Indiana; Rose Polytechnic Institute of Terre Haute, Indiana; Lakeland College of Sheboygan, Wisconsin; and traditional opponents North Park, Concordia, and Lake Forest, the last of whom is the homecoming foe.

The outstanding characteristic of the 1959 season was the Jay's gradual and opponent by opponent improvement over 1958. While admittedly the Jays were soundly beaten in seven of eight games, nevertheless there was a noticeable improvement over last year in the margin of victory column. In several of its games, too, Elmhurst piled up impressive offensive statistics but was hurt by an inability to move the ball when inside the twenty yard line.

Outstanding individuals included Joe

Podpora who, with his passes to Pat Moritz and John Grollmus, accounted for most of Elmhurst's offense; Tom Eddy, defensive safety and punter; and linemen Dennis Bilen, Marv Lang, Howie Schwartz, Jack Benmer, Jack Fielding, and Ron Maxon. Hopes for improvement in 1960 are based on a strong nucleus of underclass lettermen.

“E” Club

In order to become a member of “E” Club, an athlete must letter in a sport and go through an initiation. “E” Club is in charge of the E. I. I., electing the queen and her court and officiating at it. The athletes this year sponsored the dance, Pajama Party.

Cheerleaders

In September, 1959, the girls chosen to form the Elmhurst College Cheerleading Squad were Barb Collins, Captain, Karen Benson, Beverly Braiden, Sandy Ciotola, Dianne Eddy, Dee Egger, Linda Moore, Ruth Young, Sharon Meier, Alternate, and Carole Simmons, Alternate. The girls were chosen by a panel comprised of members from the athletic committee, the faculty and the students.

A daily practice of hard work and excellent co-operation comprised the cheerleader's schedule. Each girl took part leading the student body in cheers at both football and basketball games. Many new cheers as well as old favorites were yelled out loud and strong.

Elms

The Elms, the yearbook of Elmhurst College, is compiled by the students with the aid of Mr. Swords, faculty advisor. The editor, Pat Kroll (1959-1960) headed the staff and made sure that they fulfilled their jobs. These are such as scheduling pictures, writing articles, and identifying pictures. The deadlines had to be met. Students helped by writing articles which then had to be edited by the literary editor and typed into copy for the printer.

Getting the Elms ready takes a great deal of hard work, but the results, the memories kept alive by it, make it worth the effort.

The Elm Bark is a "voice" of Elmhurst College. The chief purpose of the paper is to be a unifying link among the students, faculty, administration, and alumni.

The Elm Bark is a weekly publication under the sponsorship of the Student Union. The paper this year was distributed on Tuesday, allowing the students to have information concerning coming weekend events.

Work on The Elm Bark is open to any interested student. Beside writers, the staff needs typists, proof readers and people interested in advertising.

It is the policy of The Elm Bark that news be reported in an unbiased, independent manner as a service to its readers.

Elm Bark

Basketball

The 1960 basketball team provided perhaps the most exciting and most successful plays that Elmhurst College fans have seen in many seasons. The team lived up to pre-season predictions of providing a series of skillfully played games for the season. Many tense moments were provided for the spectators, as most of the games played were won or lost by close margins.

An analysis of this year's team reveals Dick Luzietti as the Blue Jays basketballman; Dick proved his ability many times. Tip-ping the ball from a center spot was Earl Collignan. Freshman Bob Dein proved and won his place on the Elmhurst team as a Freshman. Jim Dancy, a junior, has again proved his place on the team. Bob Smith, last year's gain to the Varsity squad, has shown that he is adept at the game.

The top players from last season combined with the players from the Freshman and Sophomore classes. This indicates that the season next year will be a very hopeful one, with the returning players again playing for the Blue Jays.

Social Life

Many varied social events help to make up a fully rounded college program. These activities are designed to give the students the opportunity of participating in social activities right here on the college campus. Included in these activities are dances—folk dances and social dances, — parties, movies, and plays.

Dances are of the informal, semi-formal and formal varieties. The semiformal include such dances as Homecoming, the Sophomore dance and the Freshman dance. The formal dances are Bachelor's Holiday and the Junior Prom. Different organizations are in charge of these dances and they appoint committees to carry out the planning and organization of them.

Movies are planned for the students' pleasure and cultural growth. Several of these are planned during the year.

A part of the cultural life are also the plays put on by student and faculty members.

SOCIAL LIFE COMMITTEE

David Schleuter, Richard Brinkhoff, Donald Sabbert, Frank Dietz, Gayle Baker, Joan Duvall, Rosalie Bilges, Virginia Szanislo.

There are four plays presented each school year. Varied and entertaining are the themes of these.

Two teas are held a year — the Women's Union Christmas tea and the Senior tea. These activities are designed to unite the student and faculty in fellowship.

These are a few of the social events that are made available to E. C. students.

Christmas time was an active time as far as college life was concerned. Many parties were held for the students. The Student Union sponsored a party for all students and faculty. There was also the inter-dorm party in which each dorm presented some form of entertainment for everyone's enjoyment. Not to be forgotten was the holiday "dress-up meal" in Commons at which egg nog was one of the extras; the highlight of the meal was furnished by some Elmhurst College musicians.

Christmas

Choral Union

The twenty-sixth annual Christmas Candlelight Service was presented by Choral Union late in December before the Christmas holiday. Members of the college community, alumni, faculty, and students were present for this impressive service. A seven piece string ensemble accompanied the forty-one member Choral Union.

The choir, carrying illumined candles, processed, singing an Ancient Plainsong, Veni, Emmanuel. Two cantatas were sung: To Us a Child is Given and Rejoice, Beloved Christians. Adding a great deal to the meaning of this Christmas season, this service is looked forward to by many because of its inspirational effect and its significance for all.

Commons

Commons, the college dining hall, serves all meals for the students on campus. The serving hours are arranged so that students can relax and enjoy the food and fellowship that are available. The regular full time staff consists of seven adults; the serving of the food and washing of the dishes is done by paid campus students. The food is served "cafeteria style" to facilitate the serving.

There are occasions during the year that afford the student a chance to leave the college community and become once again a member of his own family group. Each student eagerly looks forward to these periods. Several weeks before the holiday or week-end, the student starts counting days until his departure. As the days become fewer, the student begins to make preparations for his transportation — by car, bus, plane, or train. The day before, suitcases are found and packing commences. The day of departure arrives, and good byes to all of the friends are said along with promises to write. Soon the student will be home, sharing his experiences with his parents.

Vacation

Student Government Conference

Each year representatives from the Student Unions of the C. C. I. have a conference on the campus of one of its members; this year the conference was held at Elmhurst. The delegates conduct a business meeting, elect officers for the next year, and participate in discussion groups. The small groups discuss problems that are encountered in the scope of the Student Union. A banquet highlighted the week-end.

C. C. F. Winter Retreat

The annual C. C. F. Winter Retreat was held between semesters at Green Lake, Wisconsin. Three stimulating lectures by Dr. Allen O. Miller of Eden Seminary were followed by small group discussions at which time the retreaters came to grips with the topic, "Christianity in Conflict with Values." Ice skating and sledding were some of the recreational activities available.

The traditional midnight hike, a campfire on the lake, and ice skating highlighted the activities.

The worship services were in the form of three dramatic presentations, dealing with the sub-topics discussed in the lectures and discussions. Culminating the entire program was a communion service in which "personal" communion was served. The experience of true fellowship by the retreaters in an experience that will always make the '59-'60 E. C. retreat something of significance to everyone who attended.

Women's Union

WOMEN'S UNION CABINET

Dr. Wellington, Karen Haub, JoAnn Tomsovic,
Lenore Strand, Carolyn Bach, Judy Boese, Verla Kistner, Sarah Bishop.

Women's Union is made up of all the women students. The officers are: Karen Haub, president; Lenore Strand, vice-president; Carolyn Bach, secretary; and Sarah Bishop, treasurer. Working together, the women sponsor several activities on campus. Among these are women's intramurals, the Christmas tea, the circus, a breakfast, and Bachelor's Holiday.

During the four day period of Bachelor's Holiday women showed their gratitude to the men for all of the courtesies shown them throughout the year. Carrying books and trays, paying the bills, helping the men on with their coats, and walking them back to the dorms were some of the services the gals rendered to their favorite guys. The activities of this week were climaxed by a semi-formal dance appropriately titled "The Tender Trap."

Lecture Series

1960 was an exceptional year in the history of the Elmhurst College Lecture Series. The common theme for this, the seventh series, was "The Creative Mind in Mid-Century America." The first lecture featured Professor Nathan A. Scott, Jr., of the Federated Theological Faculty of the University of Chicago. His topic was "Art and the Renewal of Human Sensibility in Mass Society." George Cohen, an American artist, spoke on "The Role of the Painter in American Life." Walter Hendl, Associate Conductor of the Chicago Symphony, revealed "The Conductor's World" and John Ciardi, present day American Poet, spoke on "Contemporary American Poetry." The series was arranged through the efforts of the committee: Mr. Swords, chairman; Mrs. Story; Dr. Barclay; Dr. DeRoo; Dr. Schade; Dr. Schmidt; Eva Augustin; Ann Menzel; John Bock; Paul Westermeyer and David Weistart.

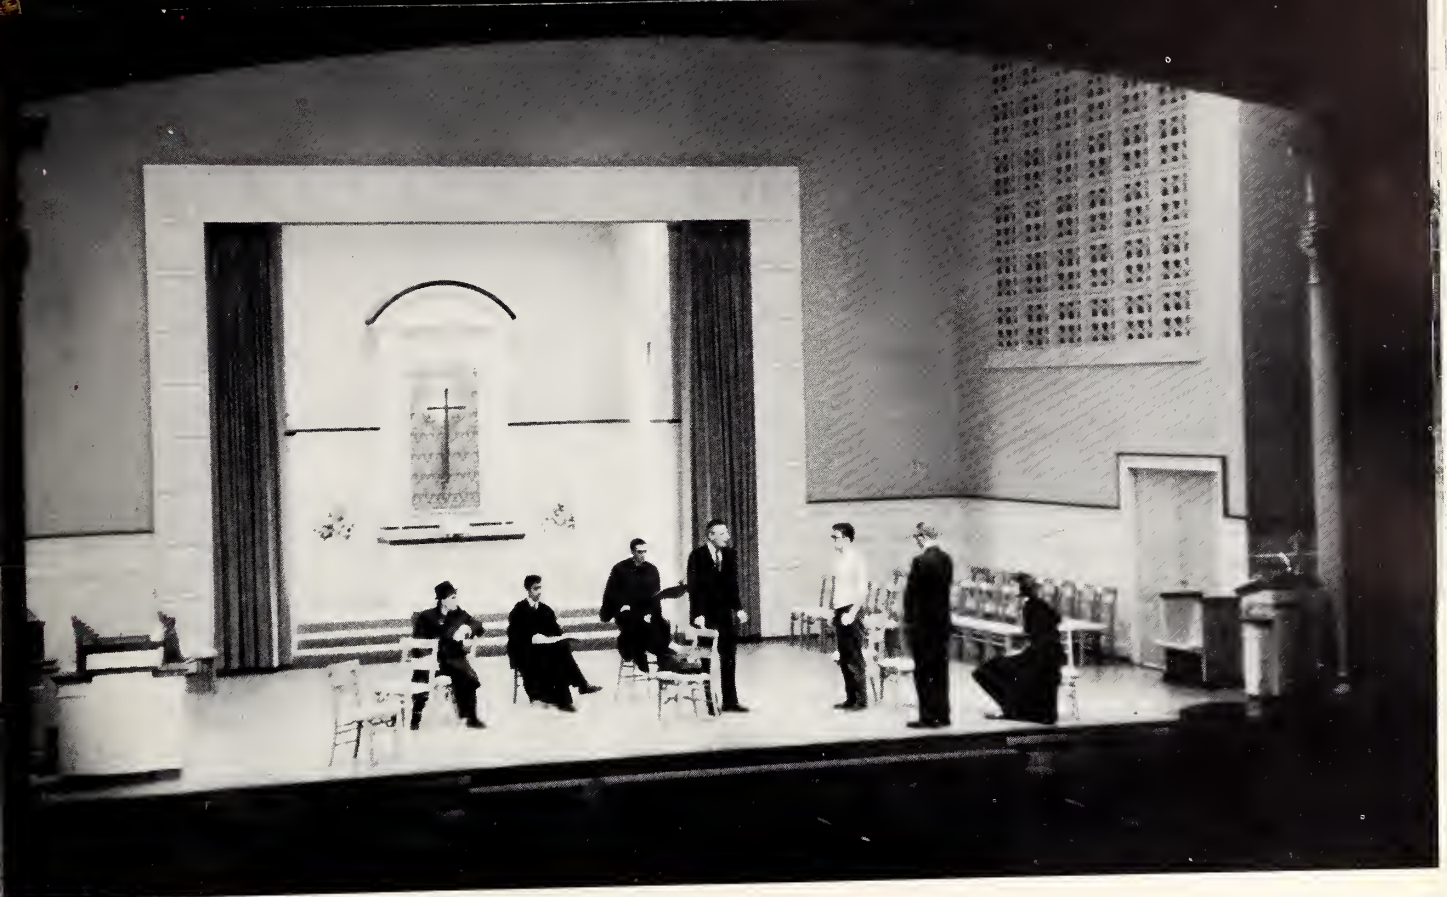

Religion-in-Life

The Religious Life Committee promotes and sponsors the religious interests of the campus. It consists of students and faculty members appointed by and including the College President and one Student Chairman. Its work has two aspects; the theoretical and the practical. As a theoretical body the committee has discussions on the purpose of religion on the campus, methods of fulfilling that purpose, and the relationship of religion to other aspects of campus life. The practical side of the committee's work consists in supporting and encouraging participation in worship services and planning and preparing many of these services. Part of the committee's work is the Religious Emphasis Period during the campus year. Vespers, Chapel, Matins, C. C. F., Senate Chaplain, Religion in Life Week, are all related to the work and purpose of this committee.

Student Union Government

The 1959-60 activities of the Student Union government can be counted among the more successful student endeavors. The two main governing activities of the SU are distributing the $20,000 annual budget collected from activity fees and establishing the social life calendar. Through these two phases of administration almost all of the varied activities of the student body are influenced by the official representatives of the student body.

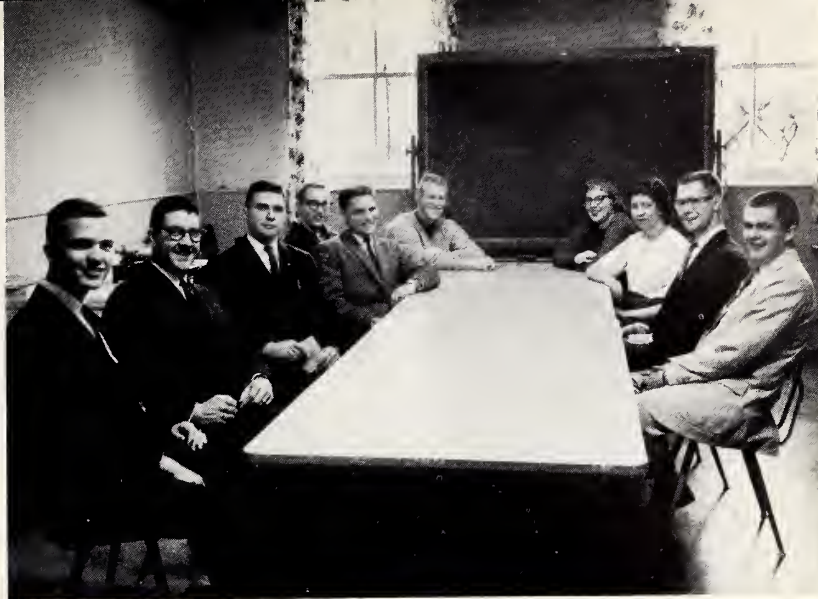

Besides overseeing the calendar and budget arrangements, the SU Cabinet and Senate collaborated in formulating policy (in regard to such items as the maintenance and supervision of the SU Lounge and a proposal for an increased activity fee based on a survey of its constituency), in streamlining Senate procedures, and in streamlining the SU Constitution for presentation to the students in a referendum.

STUDENT UNION CABINET

John Pecoul, Lyle Weible, Dave Schleuter,

Dorothy Gewecke, Joan Sawyer, William
Rumpf, Al Kromholz.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES FOR 1960

Richard Brandon, Bruce Carlson, John Pecoul.

The intramural program is designed to provide athletic competition for those who are unable to participate in inter-collegiate sports. The Windsprinters and the Has Beens, two senior teams, took the 1959 crowns in track, softball, and football respectively; the Woohoos and Warriors were basketball champs in the A and B leagues respectively.

The women's intramural program was under the supervision of the Women's Union. Intramural chairman this year was Richard Brandon.

Intramurals

The story of the 1959-1960 Elmhurst wrestling season lay in a shortage of manpower. Early in the year this shortage affected the lighter weights but later, due to drop-outs and ineligibility, the heavier weights were also hit. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Bob Reinecke who took the conference crown at 137 pounds, and Bill Ball who showed great improvement over last year. Rudy Hastedt, at 147 pounds, was also a stand-out for the first half of the season.

Wrestling

The 1960 Elmhurst baseball squad looked for improvement as this article went to press. The basis for this optimism lay in a strong nucleus of veteran ball players. The pitching, with John Nagy, Walt Burdick, and Bill Blazing, figured to be improved over 1959. The catching was in the capable hands of Don Frandsen, while centerfield was patrolled by Tom Eddy. At first base the Jays had Jim Zeumer who, though always a good glove man, first began to hit last year.

Baseball

Track

The Elmhurst thin clads were looking for perhaps their greatest season in 27 years in 1960. Boyd Bender in the 100, 220, and the broad jump; John Grollmus in the 120 high hurdles; Bill Rumpf in the 220 lows, Jim Nash in the high jump and pole vault; Ken Thomas in the mile and two mile; Don Sinclair in the 880 and mile; Frank Riekhoff in the 880 and mile relay; and Rich Brandon in both hurdles and the pole vault were the basis of Coach "Pete" Langhorst's optimism.

The Elmhurst harriers finished out their 1959 campaign with a very creditable record of five wins as against four losses. The success of the squad was largely a team effort, but early in the season freshman Don Sinclair took over in the number one spot. Others who ran well and scored regularly for the team coached by Pete Langhorst included John Bock, Ken Thomas, Bob Groves, and Frank Riekhof. This good cross country record presaged an excellent track team for the coming spring.

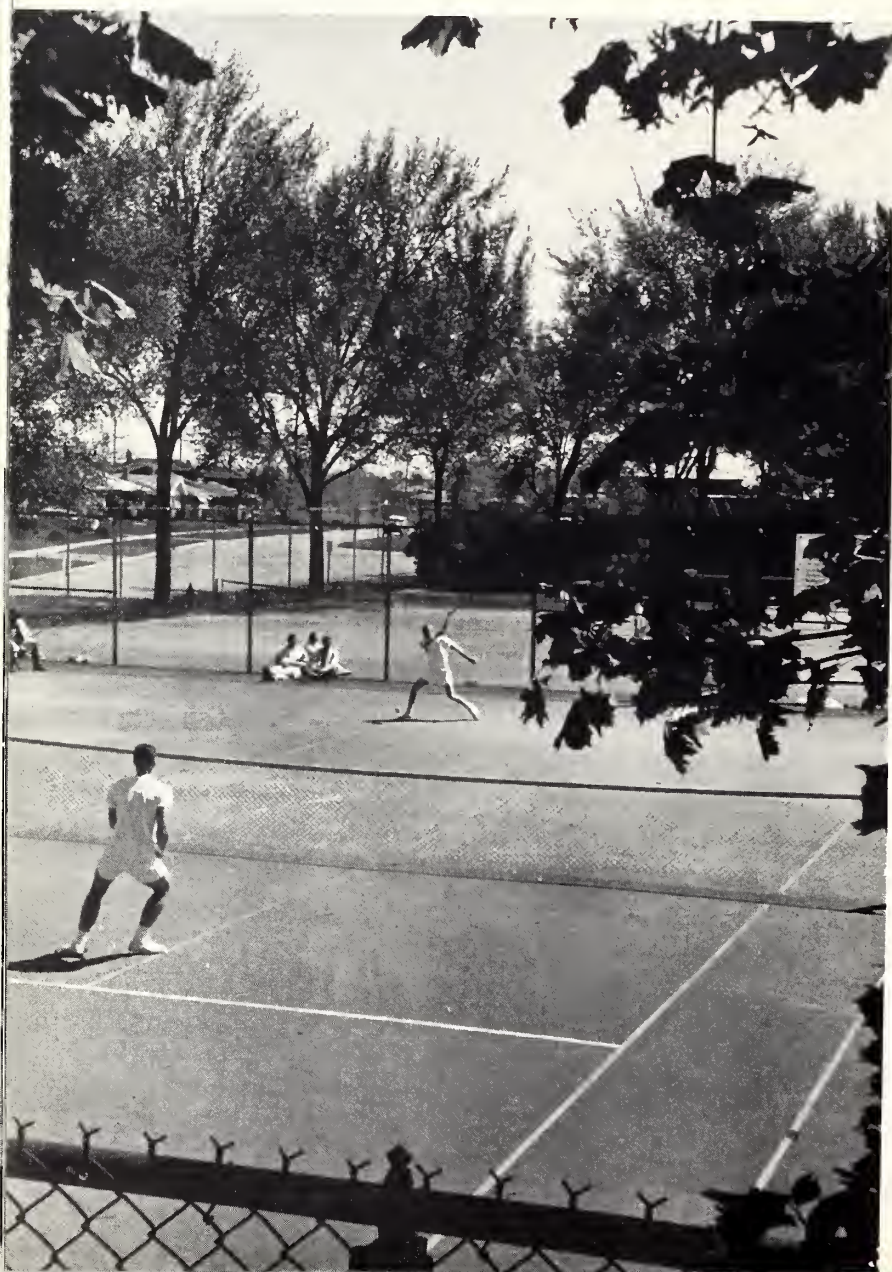

In 1960 Elmhurst will again field a tennis team sans tennis courts. In 1938 and again in 1959 money was set aside to build tennis courts, but in both years the money was eventually used to repair damaged water mains on campus. Despite this handicap, Coach C. C. Arends expects to have a very strong team built around a letterman nucleus of Captain George Tormohlen, Dick Luzietti, Chuck Mittler, and Julius Clyne. The net men are preparing for the conference meet held at Rock Island.

Tennis

Golf

Elmhurst's 1960 golf team was looking forward to a season in which acquisition of experience was expected to compensate for any defeats that might be suffered according to golf coach "Spud" Owens when interviewed early in the spring. In the last weeks of the long, hard winter the team worked out with the practice cage in IHA. The greensmen were relying on Bob Nickodem, Jim Larson, Jerry Van Hoose, Ron Riemer, Jim Jassels, Bruce Baumonk, and Eric Walsh for success in 1960.

W. R. S. E.

W. R. S. E., the student operated radio service of Elmhurst College, was organized in 1947, and is thus the campus' youngest publication. With studios located on the second floor of Kranz Hall, it serves the campus community with various broadcasts including direct remotes of away basketball games.

Under the leadership of Thomas Tirrito, past Director and David Kniker, current Director, the operating equipment was remodeled during the past school year. The system was virtually rebuilt from microphone to transmitter to better serve the college and its students.

Forensics

A division of forensics, debate develops skill in prompt, precise and critical thinking as well as effective argumentation and public speaking. The Elmhurst Debate Team attends weekly debate meets in the Chicago area with local colleges and universities. Elmhurst also participates in various Debate Tournaments within Illinois.

Members of the Debate Team this year were Thomas Bauer, Thomas Burke, Sonja Conrad, Edwin Hoefer, Wendy Huntley, Raymond Miller, Gerald Schram, Robert Stevens and Jan Van Fassen. The team's coaches were Miss Hardman and Dr. Low.

Firesides

An evening at the home of a faculty member discussing a pertinent issue and ending with some refreshments characterizes the Firesides evening. Small groups of students visit faculty homes to discuss the chosen topic; the organizing and fulfilling of the details are supervised by a student-faculty committee. One of the topics discussed this year was the future at Elmhurst College; the students voiced their opinions regarding the size of an ideal campus, what the role of a Christian college is and many other questions.

Chapel Choir

The Chapel Choir is a forty voice mixed sacred chorus organized with the function of presenting special music for college services. Its program has expanded to include off-campus concert work, including a spring tour. This season the choir toured parts of Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky presenting, under the direction of Dr. Krueger, its service of sacred music.

Men's Glee Club

Under the inspiring leadership of Mr. David Austin, the Men's Glee Club again completed a successful season of concert and chapel appearances. The Spring Tour took the Glee Club from Duluth to Omaha. The Club, beginning with the greatest personnel turnover in its history, was moulded into a well-balanced, unified group. With a repertoire ranging from Russian Orthodox liturgy to selections such as "What Shall We Do With the Drunken Sailor," the Glee Club satisfied the musical tastes of its many audiences.

Polyhymnia

Polyhymnia, better known to E. C. as "Poly," is the all women's musical organization on campus. Under the direction of Mrs. Viola Repp, the twenty-six members of "Poly" gave many concerts in Chicago area churches this past year. Their parody of "Sunny Side of the Street," "Just put your hand at your waist, a smile on your face . . .," is a fitting description of the "Poly" girls as they represented Elmhurst College during their spring tour in Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, and Michigan.

Band

The band, organized and directed by Gordon Seiffertt this year, was present at all the home football and basketball games. Music played consisted of peppy swing tunes, marches, and dixieland music. There were about fifteen members who played each time. Rehearsals were held at the beginning of the football season and later as needed to learn new music to make for more variety. The members of the band worked hard to achieve success as a pep band.

Theatre

As the sound of twin pianos rang through the auditorium, the Elmhurst College Theatre season opened. By extending the stage; the production of Menottis' opera The Medium swept into the area once held by the audience. Hardly had the music, heavy with the motifs of man's mind dimmed when the laughter of Anouilh's comedy Thieve's Carnival was heard in a ballet comique.

The second semester began as The Diary of Anne Frank explored hope under the face of prejudice. Closing the season was Agatha Christie's mystery The Mousetrap.

The drama classes and Theatre Guild provided settings for the productions.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Juniors

The Junior Class, class of 1961, has again completed a very successful year. The class under the leadership of its officers, Charles Kreichelt; president; Ron Koepl, vice-president; JoAnn Tomsovic, secretary; and Verla Kistner, treasurer; and with the help of their advisor, Rev. Kenneth Ziebell, sponsored two social events during the past year.

In November, a bingo party was given in Commons at which many prizes were awarded to winners. Approximately one hundred persons attended the party and everyone enjoyed himself immensely.

The highlight of the year was the Junior Prom, "Garden of Dreams," which was held on May 6 in the Bal Tabarin Room of the Sherman Hotel. Much work on the part of the prom committee, which was headed by Judy Boese, and of other members of the class went into making this evening a success. A large part of the work in preparation for the prom consisted of the sale of Junior Goodies, the moneymaking scheme of the Junior Class each year to help defray prom expenses, at football games and at dances. This operation was headed by Dave Martens and Dorothy Gewecke and was aided by the help of many members of the class.

Continuous music was provided at the prom by the orchestras of Peter Palmer and Bill Russell. At 11:00 p.m., the queen's those attending, and at about 12:30 a.m., a wonderful evening of dancing was ended.

Junior Prom

This year's Junior prom, Garden of Dreams, was held in the Bal Tabarin Room of the Sherman Hotel. The music for the evening was provided by the orchestras of Peter Palmer and Bill Russell; these two orchestras played alternately for an evening of continuous music. The couples were greeted in the foyer of the room by the prom court of Junior girls and the guests of honor. Highlighting the evening was the presentation of the Junior prom queen; this year the queen was Judy Cass. She was attended by four of her classmates; she and her court were presented by the president of the Junior class, Charles Kreichelt. Many people helped to make the prom a success through their work on committees; the general chairman of the prom was Judy Boese.

Honors Day

As is traditional, Honors Day combined the recognition of outstanding academic students and the tribute to mothers. The program was held in Hammerschmidt memorial Chapel; entertainment for the parents and guests was provided by the Polyhymnia and Glee Club.

Scholarships were awarded to the entering freshmen who were at the head of their respective classes. Some of the present academically superior underclassmen also received recognition, and in some instances they received scholarships, grants or awards. The scholarships were presented by representatives of each of the awarding groups. The senior candidates for Who's Who were presented and received their awards.

The Senior Class, under the leadership of their president Sam Schroeder, completed their last of four active years. For the education majors it was a year distinctive for its "student teaching"; for the pre-theological students it was a year of field work; for all the seniors the question of the future was foremost in their minds.

The class gift was furnishings for the chaplain's office.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

To the members of the Graduating Class of 1960

Dear Seniors:

When we approach the time of commencement, there is a bit of a tug at the heart as we offer our congratulations, for there is a tinge of sadness mixed with the happiness. Graduation marks a milestone in your progress, but it also means the breaking of ties which have come to mean much to all of us. These associations are deeply cherished, and we appreciate them most when we are about to lose them. The words "Alma Mater" will have new meaning for you as applied to Elmhurst College.

For 89 years now men and women have come here and have gone away to all parts of this land and to the ends of the earth. You will be joining this great company. There is no way of measuring accurately what these years at Elmhurst College have meant to you. The influence of devoted teachers has been yours. These men and women have given of themselves for only one reason, - because they love to teach. What will be remembered are not the mistakes you have made, or we have made, but that you were here for a few brief years, and that you brought youth and life and love and high hopes in your time. We are grateful for that, but even more grateful for what you may become.

Let me welcome you into the group of the alumni of Elmhurst College. More and more in these days our colleges are depending on the loyalty, interest and support of their graduates. You know the needs of the college as well as anyone. Will you keep Elmhurst in your heart and thought and prayers as it marches forward to the greater days ahead?

I speak not only for myself, but for the faculty and the administration of Elmhurst College when I extend to you congratulations and best wishes for the future.

School we love, Elmhurst,
Live for aye;
God shed his grace on thee.
Loyal be thy sons and daughters
To thy memory.

Robert C. Stanger,

President

Graduation

Hammerschmidt Memorial Chapel was the focal point of this year's graduation activities. This was the first year that the Chapel was used for commencement. In the morning there was the Baccalaureate Service; the speaker, The Reverend Roger L. Shinn, reminded the graduates that a part of their lives were ended but now a new part was commencing. The commencement exercises were held in the Chapel; the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Science, Nursing, and Business Administration were conferred upon the candidates. Four honorary degrees were conferred on men from various professions. A reception was held for the graduates and their guests.

Elmhurst College believes that the best possible type of education can be obtained by a relatively small group of selected students, living together in a closely-knit college community, studying under well-trained, sympathetic, experienced, and inspiring teachers. It believes that the learning process is a creative one with the learner contributing inquiry and receptivity, the others their experiences, ideas, and understanding.

Elmhurst believes in the importance of the individual, and has purposely restricted its enrollment so that each student feels himself an important and significant unit, and so that close ties are developed between student and teacher.

It maintains a faculty-student ratio (approximately one to fourteen) which insures intimate contact between faculty members and students, in class and out.

It believes in a wholesome social and recreational life for its students, and the importance of up-to-date equipment and pleasant surroundings during four formative years.

It recognizes the value of the training and attitudes which result from activities outside the classroom, and encourages a program which gives experiences in self-expression, self-government, and self-reliance.

FOUNDED—Elmhurst College has a history of nearly one hundred years. The school was started in 1871 as an academy, and has developed through the years into a fully accredited four-year liberal arts college.

PURPOSE—Elmhurst College has been throughout its history a school of liberal arts in the Christian tradition. To help each individual achieve excellence in comprehensive scholarship and reach an appreciation of moral and religious values is its avowed and practical aim.

LOCATION—Elmhurst College is situated just 16 miles west of the Chicago "Loop" in beautiful suburban Elmhurst, Illinois. It is served by U. S. Highway 20, State Routes 64 and 83, and the Galena Division of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway.

ENROLLMENT—There are approximately 850 students in the day school and 500 students in the evening sessions. They come from more than 20 states and 8 foreign countries. The approximate ratio of men to women, in the day school, is five to three. Almost every denomination is represented in the student body.

FACILITIES—The 34 acre campus includes 18 buildings . . . 5 dormitories, classroom buildings, the library, swimming pool, faculty apartments, and the new Hammerschmidt Memorial Chapel.

ADMINISTRATION—Robert C. Stanger, D. D., President, and a Board of Trustees of 24 business and professional men.

FACULTY—There are 53 full time and several part time members on the college faculty.

AFFILIATION—Elmhurst College is an Illinois Corporation, supported and governed by the Evangelical and Reformed Church (United Church of Christ.)

RECOGNITION—Elmhurst College is a small, four-year, co-educational, liberal arts college. It is fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, by the University of Illinois, and by the Illinois State Department of Education. The Illinois State Examining board grants certificates to graduates who have fulfilled the requirements for the State Elementary School Certificate, the State High School Certificate, and the State Certificate for Teachers of Exceptional Children in Speech Correction. Elmhurst is a member of the Association of American Colleges, the American Council of Education and the Commission on Higher Education of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

DEVELOPMENT—A full scale program of development has been inaugurated. Attention will be focused on the total needs of the college as it prepares to serve larger numbers of young men and women who desire a college education. Support for the expanding program will be actively sought from friends, from alumni, and from industry.
